

Covid-sb.org Business Advisor Learning Center

Tailored, interactive trainings and webinars — created by the Small Business Development Centers, Women’s Business Centers, SCORE, and Veterans Business Outreach Centers for their small business advisors — are available at covid-sb.org.

Moving the Needle From COVID-19 Response to Resiliency

- Powered by the U.S. Small Business Administration under Section 1103 of the CARES Act, covid-sb.org consolidates federal resources for small businesses affected by COVID-19.
- The Business Advisor Learning Center section of the website educates advisors — those tasked with helping businesses adapt and thrive in the COVID-19 era — on these dynamic, continually updated federal resources.

Harnessing the Expertise of Small Business Educators

- With America’s Small Business Development Centers and the Association of Women’s Business Centers named in the CARES Act as facilitators, four resource partners are on a mission to support the small business community.
- This coalition draws on the collective expertise of each resource partner, the Small Business Administration, local business centers, and subject matter experts.

Providing Resources for Business Advisors and the Entire Small Business Community

- Interactive, online trainings on topics such as financial assistance, tax credits, and cybersecurity.
- Accurate and timely content that has been vetted by subject matter experts.
- Webinars, toolkits, job aids, and other resources.
- Resources that are tailored to advisor needs based on ongoing comprehensive needs assessments.
- Multiple learning options, including live sessions and self-guided learning.
- Course discussion boards to ask questions and network with advisors across the country.
- Resources made available through a secure, accessible learning management system.
- Small business use cases throughout the training program to assist advisors in multiple types of business solutions.
