

Federal Resources for Small Businesses

Funded through a grant from the U.S. Small Business Administration

Covid-sb.org

Covid-sb.org is the federal resource hub for small businesses in need.

Moving the Needle From COVID-19 Response to Resiliency

Powered by the U.S. Small Business Administration under Section 1103 of the CARES Act, covid-sb.org consolidates federal resources for small businesses affected by COVID-19.

Harnessing the Expertise of Small Business Leaders

- With America's Small Business Development Centers and the Association of Women's Business Centers named in the CARES Act as facilitators, four resource partners are on a mission to support the small business community.
- Covid-sb.org connects small businesses to a vast network of people and resources, including advisors at all Small Business Administration resource partner organizations.

Providing a One-Stop Shop for Small Businesses

- To identify federal funding opportunities for COVID-19 relief.
- To connect with local advisors.
- To navigate efficiently through vetted federal resources.
