MCGlobalTech Managed Security Program Schedule at a glance:

Our Managed Security program is comprised of multiple products and services outlined below and performed on a recurring basis. This overall approach of ongoing assessment determines the effectiveness of the organization's security posture over time in highly dynamic environments of operation with changing threats, vulnerabilities, technologies, and business processes.

All of our packages include and begin with a security program assessment as well as a vulnerability assessment. While the fitness assessment measures an organization's cyber capabilities in five key functional areas: Identify, Protect, Detect, Respond, and Recover; the vulnerability assessment serves to identify weaknesses within your network and develops a plan of action to fix them.

The schedule outlined below is a recommended schedule that will provide full protection and provide the business manager with detailed information to make pragmatic decisions about investing today's limited resources when making security improvements or fixes.

A proposed schedule for complete protection.
